NORBIT in UK appoints Mairi Law as Director for Sales and Marketing

Aberdeen UK, 5th December 2016— NORBIT have appointed Mairi Law as Director of Sales and Marketing to support their growing regional client base.

Peter Eriksen from NORBIT comments, “We are delighted that Mairi has joined the team to support the growing number of NORBIT clients in the UK and Eire. She has extensive experience in the sales of multibeam systems, and understands what is important to clients as they wish the latest generation of sonar technology from a trusted partner”.

Mairi Law commented “I’m excited to be focusing on clients and supporting their current and future needs. Customer support has always been important to me, and our range of high performance multibeam systems combined with integrated sensors, allows my role to evolve client’s operational capability when either upgrading their existing older technology or procuring new systems. Using small efficient form factors, our systems are designed to be installed on ASV, ROV, AUV and vessel platforms, so with growing global acceptance, acclaim and proven performance I’m proud to be offering NORBIT high quality solutions to the UK and Eire markets.

NORBIT is an international, knowledge-based group that continuously designs, develops and manufactures high technology products, systems and solutions to meet customers’ changing needs. With the spirit of explorers their engineers have pioneered groundbreaking solutions within a wide range of applications.
